Product Discontinuation Reminder

Dear UDS Customer,

If you have previously purchased UDS-10 products, as a reminder, Lantronix has discontinued the UDS-10 device server product family.

The deadline for placing final non-cancelable, non-returnable purchase orders was August 18th, 2006 with shipments scheduled no later than September 29th, 2006. This was extended due to customer demand, but the date for final shipments has now passed. The last day of support for this product was September 28th, 2007.

The replacements for the UDS-10 products are the new UDS1100 family of device servers listed in the table below. The RoHS compliant UDS1100 is a superior 10/100 device with increased performance, increased memory, and includes a serial cable to simplify configuration and device connectivity.
